A Chat with Mayor Michael R. Coleman

As many of you can see, the city has been moving in a positive direction with many new developments popping up. New residential areas, new commercial development and the connection of the Trail System. We had a chance to sit and chat with the mayor about the new developments and get his take on things.

Mayor Coleman, please tell us a little bit about your background?

Mayor Coleman (MC): I was born and raised here in Fort Worth. I worked as an engineer at Lockheed Martin and retired from there in 2010. My wife and I have two grown kids and moved to Westworth Village twelve years ago, when our son was in high school. I have served on the City Council since 2010 and was appointed Mayor three months ago to complete Mayor Yeager's term. Susan and I love living in Westworth Village and I consider it an honor to serve our city.

Where do you see the city in 5 years?

MC: I think Westworth Village is a great community. Susan and I feel like we are living in the country, yet we are only a few miles from downtown Fort Worth. The city is changing – new residential communities are being built, construction of new homes has begun in Central Westworth Village, and new businesses continue to open along Westworth Boulevard. So, my sincere hope is that in five years, we have successfully managed this redevelopment, without sacrificing that small-town charm that makes Westworth Village special for its’ residents.

What are you most excited to see coming to the City?

MC: I am an outdoor enthusiast. I love walking, hiking, cycling, and playing golf. So, I guess I am the most excited about the Trail project that is currently underway in the City. With the help of a federal grant, we are adding a hike and bike trail that will reach to all ends of the city and connect directly to the Trinity Trail at Airfield Falls. The first section of the trail is already being built along Roaring Springs Road. Walkability in Westworth Village is going to be great!

Why did you want to take an active role in this City?

MC: As I tell anyone who asks, I do not consider myself a politician. I am a public servant. I like to feel that I am lending my engineering and managerial talents to the city. Many of our citizens do the same by volunteering their time and talents on committees and in other service areas.

What would you like for our citizens to know going forward?

MC: I love to walk in the City and out on the river. Don’t hesitate to stop me and visit. I am sure I will have the opportunity to meet many of you. I also want to assure you that this Council and Staff will work to make Westworth Village the best it can be for everyone, now and in the future.
